A Verbal Lie.

There is a story going the rounds that the mail carrier, C. C. Lowell, was jammed by an automobile last Tuesday, and pulling his revolver, fired on them, puncturing their tire. Now I will say the story is not a true one, and the one who first told the story told a verbal lie.

While Walter Spring was returning home from his work in our recent Monday evening shower, and as he neared the Sam. Clemons place, the lightning struck a tree near by causing him to feel a shock and numbing one side, which he felt for more than three hours.

The Boys of the N. G. S. M.

The boys of the Co. D. returned from Camp Cobb, Augusta, Saturday night. All reports go to show that the 1st Regiment, N. G. S. M., made a most creditable showing at the State Master. It was a week of real soldiers' life, minus most of its dangers. They had hiked over rough country roads, been out on dress parade, exhibited themselves before the governor and his staff, made business for the public carriage drivers, dined with the girls and nurses some sore feet. All these things did the boys do and more. They were well behaved and won the approval of their superior officers.

In the march from Harvards Crossing to Augusta, a distance of 21 miles only one of the boys of Co. D. got foot sore so that he was unable to walk a part of the distance. Fred Lovering was obliged to be carried in the ambulance a part of the way as his feet became sore but he was soon able to get about again and made good all right.

The Georgian Bay Region. It requires no particular knowledge of woodcraft and no physical labor to make a trip through the great Algonquin Archipelago, with its four hundred miles of islands. The boat carries both the explorers and their impedimenta, which means no exhaustive marches through the forest, where every man must carry from forty to one hundred pounds of camp supplies and encounter difficulties that prevent the company of women and children. For family recreation there is no region on the American continent equal to Lake Huron and its thirty thousand islands.—W. R. Bradshaw in July Field and Stream.

What Buddha Taught Mankind. There are three chief points in the message and teaching of Buddha: First, he taught men to be lamps, to find the light and way for themselves. Secondly, he taught absolute compassion. Thirdly, he taught that as he was a man and had attained enlightenment, so others could likewise attain. But, greatest of all, he taught that he could put aside the fruits of attainment until others would also attain, so great his love for humanity.

Oxford's Summer School.

In Charge of Prof. Caldwell, Son of Oxford County.

There is a regularly instituted summer school at Lake Whitney, in charge of Prof. Adelbert F. Caldwell, Professor of English in De Pau University, Greencastle, Indiana. He is the son of Leonard Caldwell of Oxford, so the beauties of this spot in its native town were well known to him. Some seven or eight years ago, Mr. Caldwell, the elder, erected a cottage on the shores of the beautiful Oxford lake, and this formed the nucleus about which the summer school was built.

The first term was held six years ago. At that time only six pupils were registered. The second year the number was doubled, and since that time the number has increased each year until the present season when 51 are registered. The boys come from all over the eastern half of the United States, the western limits being Indiana and Alabama. The one original cottage has been increased to several.

The object of the school is to furnish a good healthy outing for boys in conjunction with study, all under suitable supervision and instruction. The board of instruction this year includes such names as Franklin W. Johnson, A. H., principal of Morgan Park Academy, Chicago; Norman Leslie Bassett, Esq., of Augusta; William E. Sargent, A. M., of Hebron Academy; John Orville Newton, and Edwin H. Hughes, D. D., president of De Pau University.

The Country Home.

The buying or leasing of a country home for the summer depends upon taste, the taste of the person who wishes to occupy it. But there are a lot of city people who wish to have their families go to the country for a month or so every year, and who cannot afford the time or the money to spend large sums for the outing. Again, there are equally worthy and able people who live all the year in the country and who desire to pass the hot season with as much comfort as may be, and to do it all within reasonable limits.

On the whole, it is a mistake to construct country homes with wide and ample piazzas, for even on high land these same piazzas and balconies cannot be tenanted on a majority of summer evenings on account of mosquitoes; and when one begins to coat his verandas with wire netting or with movable screens, he had as well go into the house proper and take his comfort in the living room, without circumspection. By and by, when the civil authorities of the country towns shall grant money for the ditching of swamp lands and the use of kerosene for the killing of mosquitoes, it will be possible to sit out of doors after sundown in the country without suffering tortures from mosquito bites, but as yet such comforts are beyond the reach of ordinary people.

The very best feature to secure for a country home in the summer is plenty of fresh and untainted country air. To get this there should be a quantity of large windows around the house, particularly on the west side. In fair weather the summer winds in New England vary from northwest to southwest, and by having windows all the way between these points to admit the wind, and having a few windows and doors on the opposite side of the house to let in the same wind escape, one may feel fairly certain of ample ventilation, provided the rooms are arranged so as to permit of a draft clear through the residence. It is hardly needful to provide windows beyond the actual needs of the house, on the south or east side of the house, for when the wind comes from either quarter, there are usually fogs and often rain.

There is more pleasure loitering in a hammock under the trees than in the big open of a country home that can be found on the lawn or among the trees, when the insects are biting madly. Then again, on rainy and cloudy days, when the sun is hidden and the clinging fog caps the hilltops, this hammock slung in the attic, becomes a delight that nobody should miss.

Way up in northern Oxford county, along the route of Portland & Rumford Falls railway at the entrance of the Rangely lake region, is a prosperous little settlement known all over the State as Gum Corner.

By reason of its ownership and the station, but from the time A. O. Reed made the little village synonymous with spruce gum it became Gum Corner, and the shrewd Yankee the Gum King, and such they remain today.

For three or four years he has been the gum himself, bringing in from 50 to 75 pounds every good day. On rainy days he cleaned and marketed gum. "After three years," said Mr. Reed, "I struck in on a larger scale and bought gum of other diggers as far north as the Magalloway region. They brought it along in four-horse loads. For 25 years I bought on an average of 40 tons a year. The clear lumps I sold around the State for $1 a pound; the rough gum I shipped to Elgin, Ill., where I received 50 cents a pound for it. Success? Well, it built the little house you see under the elms here, and I look pretty healthy myself."

New Locomotives for Grand Trunk. The Grand Trunk Railway System has recently purchased a number of new ten-wheel engines for passenger service from the Locomotive and Machine Co., of Montreal, and the American Locomotive Co., of Schenectady, ten engines being built at Longue Pointe and ten at Schenectady.

These engines will be distributed to different divisions of the system. They are built after the standard type used on this road, but have simple cylinders, with driving wheels 72 in. diameter, boiler pressure 210 lbs. per square inch, tender tank capacity 6,000 U. S. gallons. The weight of engine loaded is 155,000 lbs. So far these engines have given excellent service, being placed on trains for thirty fast time. These engines are quickly becoming popular with the men on the road, as they will handle an ordinary sized passenger train without any difficulty and keep time.

The 15th Maine. The annual reunion of the Fifteenth Maine Regimental Association will be held in Bangor, on September 12 and 13, and Major H. A. Shorey of Bangor, the secretary, is now sending the announcement to all the old comrades, urging them to be present.

The minister on his daily walks saw coming towards him a rather damaged example of boyhood, one eye being well blacked, and closed to outer sight. "My dear young friend what does this mean? Have you been fighting?" "Yes sir," replied the boy, "I come with me and let me pray with you that you may not be like beast of the fields by fighting?" "No sir I don't think I will, and besides, you'd better pray with your own son. He's worse than I am 'cos he's got two black and shut-up eyes himself and he needs your prayers more than I do."

The selection of Rumford's side in regard to the McLeod family being withheld from the public, the summing up of the matter gives us the facts that Assessor Gauthier received the list of supplies that was to be delivered the same day, which was as soon as could reasonably be expected. Although it is true that the family was without food all Monday and Tuesday, the blame should be laid at some other door than that of the Assessors'.

The annual reunion of the 110-20th Maine held at the regimental cottage on Long Island. Those in attendance from this vicinity were: Wm. W. Deane, East Poland; George H. Knight, Otisfield; Bert Littlefield; East Stoneham; Stephen C. McAllister, North Lovell; Harry H. McKee and George K. Ripley, South Paris; William C. Howe, Buckfield; George H. Smith, Kezar Falls; James W. Sanford, Lovell Center; Addison S. Young, Byron.

Hon. Enoch Foster and wife attended the annual reunion of the 17th U. S. infantry association at Gray.

A Summer Colony.

There is a quiet breeze of excitement in usually quiet New Limington (Bridgton) neighborhood, a sparsely settled farming locality in the southwestern part of our town. The cause thereof was the arrival this week of two men from Massachusetts, representatives of a Bay State Outing Association, who came for the purpose of securing an ample area of land on which to build cottages for one hundred people, and a large building for teams and automobiles. The two welcome emissaries departed yesterday, having accomplished the essential purpose of their mission. They bought of Joseph Winn the deserted Wm. Allen farm, an acre of Mrs. Albert Roes, and will build a dam to make a trout pond. They are also negotiating for certain other pieces of adjacent territory. It is an important deal, as the pond will be a big boom locally to financial and social life in this Arcadian realm of rural quiet.

More Bass than in Eight Years.
A remarkable catch, over 200, was brought in by Mr. Fannin, a summer boarder at the Lake House. As compared with most years the fish in the lake have bitten remarkably well. As there are a number of boarders here the lake is about drained most years but this year there are enough for all. Mr. Fannin, who is boarding at the Lake House, says that he has brought in over 200 bass that will pass the law. He also states that this is more than he has ever caught before for eight years. Mr. Fannin has brought in his allowance a few times, and he has caught nine quite a number of times. It is thought that the water being so high is the cause of so many being caught.

Made First Flag Raised.
Mrs. Ellen Millett received a telegram, Sunday, Aug. 12th, that her aunt, Mrs. Frances Murch of Dorchester, had died that day. Mrs. Murch was well known to the older people of this place, having passed many of her girlhood days in the family of her brother, John B. Rand. In 1847 with the aid of her brother, George W. Rand, she made the first flag ever raised in Norway, Waterford. She was married at the age of 18 to A. W. Murch of Gorham, where she lived till her husband's death in 1871. She was a woman of rare personality and her sterling character made her many friends. She was the last one of her family. Her age was 75 years, 5 months and 5 days.

Carl Brown did not go to Tanworth, N. H., after W. S. Perkins' father and mother with his auto. As Mr. Perkins' folks were very aged and lame, he thought he ought to go to look out for them, and not wishing to disappoint the old people, who would be all ready to come, young Perkins telephoned to Mr. Thurston of Bethel, who sent his son, Paul, down with his fine auto, who took W. S. Perkins and family and got the old people, making the trip of 70 miles in 4 1/2 hours running time, which I think speaks well for Mr. Thurston and his machine. Mr. Thurston will take them home when they wish to go.

NORTH LOVELL.

Mrs. William Gammon.

Sarah E. (Barker) Gammon passed away Aug. 7, after a severe sickness of several weeks. She had been out of health for more than a year with a bad heart trouble and the illness assumed a malignant form the first of the summer.

Everything that love and skill could do was all in vain. She bore her last sufferings with the patience and heroic fortitude that was so characteristic of her.

She was so lovingly loved by those around her, even in her weakness and distress, and believing that all would be well.

She was a loving mother, a devoted wife, a kind neighbor and faithful friend, ready to assist in sickness or trouble, feeding the hungry, helping the needy and ministering to the sick and suffering.

She leaves a husband, three daughters, ten grandchildren, four brothers, besides a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn their loss.

Engine Run Over Both Legs.
A serious accident occurred here this week Tuesday forenoon, when A. E. Vallenouet, a brakeman on No. 91 G. T. going west, slipped while trying to jump on and over the train. The train stopped here to be helped up the grade and the accident occurred near the upper switch which he had jumped off to look. As he tried to get on to the van his foot slipped and the assistant engine run over both legs, the left one near the ankle cutting it completely off, and the right one just above the knee.

Engineer Cookson being on the opposite side of his engine did not see the accident but fireman Parker happened to look out just in time to see the man fall. They immediately whistled an alarm to stop which they did as soon as possible.

The freight backed up on a siding and took off the engine 92 and took the man to the Central Maine General hospital after being examined by Dr. Wheeler, who also accompanied the party to the hospital. There seems to be a small chance for him and if he does live it will be with the loss of a great part of both legs. Mr. Vallenouet has a family living at Rumford Falls.
